NUCLEAR WAR™

Nuke 'em till they glow!

It is your first day on the job and things are not going well.

You are the supreme leader of a powerful nation armed with a deadly arsenal of nuclear weapons. You must compete against other nations and their leaders for complete control of the world.

Tricky Dick has just convinced millions of your people to move to his country by offering them all free toaster ovens, just the latest of his many lies.

The Ayatollah Kookamamie says he is sending a care package to cheer you up. Sadly, he neglected to mention that it is attached to a warhead.

To get even, you launch your own attack on Tricky Dick and the Ayatollah, and for good measure throw a gigantic free barbecue and lure millions of their people to your nation.

And your morning has just begun . . .

Based upon the popular tongue-in-cheek board game, this whimsical strategy action game features:

Ten comical opponents to choose from. Each opposing leader has a unique personality and a distinctive special ability.

A Diplomacy Terminal which the world leaders use to communicate and bargain with one another.

A Global Monitor Screen which displays the results of the latest round of global politics.

An intense level of competition for world supremacy between yourself and four other world leaders.

An incomparable array of digitized sounds and scintillating graphics to delight your senses.

The four current world leaders display their feelings toward you on the Diplomacy Terminal.

Savor the brilliance and detail of our breath-taking graphics.

Survive Armageddon and win the game. Or did you?
